

Education & Rural Broadband Town Hall

August 25th, Tuesday | 6pm-7:30pm

Our children have been told they must succeed, but they have been denied one of the tools necessary for success:
ADEQUATE BROADBAND

Often, parents and caregivers must drive miles to find wifi so their kids can do their homework.

School districts have had to send out hotspots on school buses just to get assignments to students.

Adults (often with fulltime jobs) cannot take online classes and have to drive long distances to the nearest college campus.

Join us as we discuss how lack of broadband is impacting our kids' lives, and what needs to be done to change it.
